

David became king of Israel and God promised him that someone from his family would rule over God's people forever (the Davidic Covenant). (2 Samuel 7)